INTERNAL COMMUNICATIONS VIDEO SCRIPT

Hello and thank you for joining me as we embark on an exciting new journey in completions.

My name is XXXX and I'm xxxx for Completions Services.

Since establishing our completions business in 1999, all of our teams have been committed to developing our strengths, achieving solid growth and building us into the world-class completions company we are today.

We have a really great story about what we do, what value we bring to our customers and how far we've come.

I'm here to tell you about the exciting new direction we are taking – a direction that we hope will make us the number 1 in completions worldwide.

I will explain this new direction to you now and talk you through where we are, where we want to be and how we can have the confidence to get there together.

Now that we're embarking on a new journey, we expect all employees of Completions Services to fully understand and be able to clearly explain this so that we are one united team moving forward together, from the President to the newest recruit.

You don't need to take any notes as we'll be giving you a package with everything you need, including our manifesto and handouts.

Now let's hear from our President Xxxxx Xxxxx as he invites us to join him on this exciting new journey.

Enjoy the presentation and please give us your full attention.
